TO PROTECT CITRUS STOCK

The secretary of agriculture has issued an order effective January 1, 1915, prohibiting the importation from all foreign countries of citrus nursery stock, including buds, scions and seeds, except for experimental or scientific purposes by the department of agriculture.

This action is taken to prevent the introduction into this country of citrus canker and other citrus diseases found to exist in foreign countries, and liable to be introduced on nursery stock.

RECLAIM DESERT LAND

TO BRING LANDLESS MAN ONTO MANLESS LAND OF STATE IS PLANNED

The state conservation commission is evolving a plan for reclaiming extensive tracts of desert land in Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial counties that seems to offer practical opening for deserving men who are landless and jobless. It is proposed to ask the national government to transfer a big tract of this desert land to the state and then to have the legislature provide a liberal plan for settling, so that many impecunious, but industrious and worthy men, may have an opportunity to acquire land upon terms that would give even a man of little or no means a fair chance to pay out on the property from its own produce. There would be a demand for workmen, too, to clear and level this land and make it irrigable.

The project is in embryo and awaits the expert report of an engineer. Should it be found feasible, from an engineering standpoint, to irrigate these suggested tracts, the project, it would seem, merits a fair trial. The plan even might be carried so far as to finance the deserving settler, in a modest way, on this land. The great drawback to settlement in federal government reclamation projects is the comparative costliness to the settler of bringing his land into productive cultivation with no means of financing himself until he can produce crops from the land upon which he has settled. It would be a good stroke of helpfulness to start men on reclamation of land with a fair amount of working capital, with the land as security for repayment of the loans thus made. Many estimable families here in California, who are without means, might be given a handsome start in life through methods like this. Besides, it would be of great general benefit to the state to have these lands, now lying barren and unproductive, put under cultivation and made to produce largely.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. J. Duane Moore of 1603 Burchett street was the guest of Mrs. Clarence Jay of Los Angeles during the mid-week.

Miss Edna Love of 821 Lincoln place, with Miss Hattie Lincks, Mr. Louis Roberts and Mr. Arthur Starr of Los Angeles, formed a party who motored to the Lankershim hills on Friday after holly and the young people were well rewarded for their efforts, bringing back with them enough to give to their friends, thus adding to the Christmas cheer.

JUST FOR "DAD"

JUDGE WILBUR AT P. T. A. MEETING TELLS FATHERS A FEW THINGS

Friday was a very busy day at the Columbus avenue school. In the afternoon the children of the school gave their Christmas entertainment, which was a huge success, the teachers having given much time and effort to training the children and decorating the large basement of the school for the occasion. There were about four hundred present at the exercises, three of the smaller classes of the school sitting on the floor on large rugs, which made a pretty picture.

In the evening there was a Parent-Teacher meeting, at which the fathers were special guests, the speaker of the evening being Judge Curtis D. Wilbur. Judge Wilbur spoke on "The Child at Home," dwelling particularly on the responsibility of the father in the home. He made a point of the father carrying life insurance for the child in order that the mother might be able to tide over the transition period in case of the father's death. Judge Wilbur said that the child, especially the boy, needed the father's influence as he grew older and stated that a large percent of the delinquent boys of the juvenile court were boys from homes where the father was either dead or had left the home, and the mother had to be away earning a living for the children. Judge Wilbur spoke as one having authority, having been judge of the juvenile court in Los Angeles for ten or twelve years. His address lasted for about an hour and a quarter, and everyone who listened felt that they had received great benefit.

After the program, which consisted of a few numbers besides the address of Judge Wilbur, home-made cake and ice cream were served and a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, president of the Columbus avenue Parent-Teacher association, had charge of the evening.

MERCHANTS' ASS'N.

PROPOSED LICENSE ORDINANCE DISCUSSED FRIDAY AT A SPECIAL MEETING

The Glendale Merchants' association held a special meeting in the city hall Friday evening. The meeting was presided over by A. T. Cowan, president of the association, with W. H. Crane serving as secretary. The main business taken up for consideration was the proposed license ordinance, which was read by the secretary and discussed section by section.

The purpose of the ordinance is to impose a just tax on all lines of business for a threefold purpose, viz: To defray expense of city's hauling away rubbish from premises, to defray expense of police and fire protection, and to serve as a trade protection.

The plan is to have the amount of the license to be paid by each firm or place of business to be in harmony with benefits derived. The amount varies from $3 per year to $5 per day.

The ordinance will probably be ready to take up for the first reading before a meeting of the board of trustees Monday evening, Dec. 28.

JITNEYS IN VAN NUYS

Jitney busses may be successful in other places, but in Van Nuys they do not seem to get the business, says the Van Nuys News. Several attempts have been made to operate the busses between here and Hollywood, but they only lasted several days. The reason is not hard to find.

The majority of our people who use the Pacific Electric line, travel on commutation books. The round-trip rate by the ninety-day book is forty cents, and by the thirty-day book, twenty-five cents. No auto bus can be operated profitably, even between Van Nuys and Hollywood, at these prices.

Aside from the price, the people of Van Nuys generally are anxious to secure the best possible service from the electric lines, and realize that by patronizing the busses they are reducing the earning power of the railway and thus making themselves liable to poorer service rather than better.

Where, may we ask, would Van Nuys be today without the electric line through the valley? What was the valley before the electric line came in? The Van Nuys line was built at great expense, and it will be years before it will pay any dividends on the investment. There is only one point on which we think our people differ with the railway company, and that is on the single and round trip rates. If these were lowered, we believe that the business of the company would be greatly increased, and that it would materially aid the development of this section. This reduction is sure to come, but it is only delaying the time to patronize the jitney bus.

PRISCILLA MEETS

The Priscilla club met with Mrs. Arthur Chapman, 1463 Salem street, Thursday afternoon. The decorations were in Christmas colors, with red and green candles and flowers, and a delicious three-course luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, after which there was a grab basket which caused much merriment. In this basket were placed boxes, all of the same size and all wrapped exactly alike. The ladies stood in a line and at a given signal all made a grab for a box, and for a time it looked considerably like a football rush. When the parcels were opened they were found to contain very dainty and acceptable Christmas gifts, such as aprons, boudoir caps, etc., and each lady was charmed with her gift.

The next meeting of the Priscilla club will be the day before New Year's at the home of Mrs. Raymond P. Foss, 1450 Salem street.

AFTERNOON OF SEWING

The G. T. club met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Waite, 707 South Central avenue, on Wednesday afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served and the ladies spent the afternoon sewing and discussing the party they will give on New Year's eve, when they will entertain their husbands, watch the old year out, play Five Hundred and have a good time generally.

A HUGE RAFT

A log raft containing one million feet of cedar, said to be the largest ever floated on the Pacific, recently made the trip from British Columbia to Puget Sound. It was 100 feet long and 70 feet wide. It stood 15 feet out of the water and 20 feet under.

Mr. Scofield kindly donated the use of these lots and the committee gladly accepted the offer. The building will be erected the latter part of January and the meetings will begin about the first of February and continue through the entire month. All the churches of Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo will participate in the services.

PICKS BANANAS AS HER

CHRISTMAS GIFT

Three bunches of bananas were the Christmas present picked by Mrs. Elizabeth Grinnell from her banana plant, which was grown from roots given her twenty years ago by Thos. Nelmes, an old-time resident of Pasadena. Two of the bunches are big ones, one bearing 17 and the other 19 bananas, and the third is still small, but gives promise of being bigger later on.

The banana hedge at the home place of Thomas Nelmes was one of the sights of early Pasadena, and from this hedge came the roots of Mrs. Grinnell's plants. Bananas are rare in Pasadena and three bunches at Christmas time is something unusual.—Pasadena Star.

VILLAINY AFOOT

Friday evening, just as Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herman West of 1427 Hawthorne street were about to partake of a peaceful evening meal, a horde of wicked villains descended upon their home, took possession of everything in it, and forthwith fell upon the dinner, eating everything in sight like a regiment of hungry soldiers. To cap the climax, these villains brought their families with them, in order that they might indeed eat everything in the house, and make as much trouble as possible for that happy home. Having accomplished their dreadful work, they sat down peaceably to an evening of music, thus proving the truth of the old adage that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast." There has seldom been seen such a lot of savages as descended upon the West home that night. There were young villains and old villains and villains fat and thin, but I never knew that villains could make such a dreadful din.

NEW YORK APPEARANCE "HIT"

Miss Marjorie Rambeau, a former resident of Glendale, and for some time with the Morisco Stock company in Los Angeles, seems to have taken New York by storm and has captivated the metropolis' critics.

Miss Rambeau made her debut there in her husband's new play, "So Much for So Much," and the success of the play was attributed chiefly to her remarkable acting and personality. Miss Rambeau has signed with H. H. Frazee to appear under his direction for two years, and the New York papers are high in their praise of the work of this talented actress. Her many friends in Glendale and Los Angeles will be glad to hear of her success in critical New York, though it is no more than was expected by those who had known and admired her.

FOOTHILL CLUB GUESTS

CLUB WOMEN BUSY PREPARING GIFTS FOR CHARITABLE PURPOSES

Mrs. Elliot B. Wyman, assisted by Mrs. Frederick J. Wheeler, entertained the Foothill club on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wyman, 1326 North Maryland avenue. The work of the club on Friday was all for charitable purposes, and the ladies spent a very busy afternoon. Twenty-four dolls were dressed, four quilts finished, and twelve dollars in cash was raised by the sale of two quilts and by donations from the ladies. This money will all be spent for the needy.

A pleasant acquisition to the club was the reception into membership of four ladies—Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. R. L. Davis, Mrs. Geo. E. Larkey and Mrs. Ellen B. Williams. Mrs. R. L. Phister was elected secretary of the club. Special guests of the club on Friday were Mrs. Sherwood, the mother of Mrs. Wyman, Miss Bertha Peterson and the Misses Wyman.

Mrs. Wyman's beautiful home was charmingly decorated with cannas, poinsettias and ferns, and lovely refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon's work.

The next meeting of the Foothill club will be held at the home of Mrs. G. K. Barnes, 1311 Brand boulevard, on January 15th, the third Friday of the month.

BROADWAY P. T. A.

The Parent-Teacher association of the Broadway school met Friday afternoon at the school. Mrs. A. C. Andersen, president of the association, presided. There was a very large attendance of patrons and parents present to hear the Christmas program given by the children, under the direction of the principal, Mrs. M. O. Ryan. The different grades had been carefully drilled in Christmas carols and sang with an earnestness and a zest that delighted the audience. Following the program was the business meeting, which was given up exclusively to the consideration of the good to be done by the association during the Christmas season. Seven families who are in need were reported in the district and it was decided to fill baskets for these on Christmas day. About $12 in money and groceries were subscribed and the balance necessary to fill the baskets will be taken from the treasury. The ladies will meet at the home of Mrs. Meeker Thursday afternoon to fill the baskets.

Anyone knowing of any family in need of Christmas cheer should phone Mrs. Meeker or Mrs. Andersen.

ARRIVALS FROM BOSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Peirce of Boston, Mass., father and mother of Mr. Theodore Peirce of 709 South Central avenue, arrived in Glendale Friday. Mr. Peirce has been connected with the soldiers' relief department of the city of Boston for a long time. He left that office on November 30th and has nine months' leave of absence, but it is probable that he will not return at all and that he and Mrs. Peirce will make their permanent home in Glendale. With one exception Mr. Peirce was the only Protestant in the Boston office, all of the rest being Roman Catholics, but when he left for California the office force presented him with a very handsome scarf pin and were all anxious to have him return.

GLENDALE MAN SERIOUSLY INJURED

Mr. L. S. Jenkins, who conducts a chicken ranch at 730 Glendale avenue, this city, was very seriously injured Friday evening and now lies in an unconscious condition at the Thornycroft hospital. Mr. Jenkins had been to Lankershim and was returning home by way of Hollywood. As he stepped from the Van Nuys car at Highland avenue and Hollywood boulevard, he was struck by a boy on a bicycle and thrown to the pavement with great force. He was removed to the receiving hospital, where it was found he had sustained a basal fracture of the skull. Mrs. Jenkins was notified at about nine o'clock in the evening and immediately went to the receiving hospital, where she found her husband in unconscious state and had him removed to the Thornycroft hospital. Drs. Archer and Smith remained with Mr. Jenkins all night, but do not report much improvement this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins have many friends in Glendale, who will be sorry to learn of their trouble.

Only 7½ per cent of last season's 400 fires in national forests of Utah, Southern Idaho, Western Wyoming and Nevada caused losses in excess of $100.

RULES FOR JUDGING

Some of the rules to be observed in judging entries in the Pasadena Rose Tournament are:

The judges will consider the artistic arrangement and harmonious blending of the natural flowers, ferns, grasses, smilax, etc., together with the general artistic effect of the entry.

Natural grasses, ferns, smilax, brakes, trailing vines, palms, oaks, peppers, etc., may be used for decorative purposes, but in competition for prizes, flowers (particularly roses) shall receive the greatest consideration.

Any entry using artificial flowers will under no circumstances be allowed in the parade.

Where there is but one entry in a class, the judges will not award the first prize, but will note the fact, and in their discretion award a blue banner and one of the other prizes offered in that class.

Judges will take into consideration the appropriateness of the dress of the participants and drivers, and in classes D, E, F and G the truthfulness of the representations as well as the artistic merits of the decorations will be considered.

No entry must enter the line of march until it has first passed the inspection and approval of the censor of the parade.

The executive committee of the board of directors may also award special prizes for conspicuous merit, if in its opinion the occasion for such action arises.

Those familiar with the eastern mistletoe only, have no idea of the great losses due to this parasite in the forests of the West, where it counts next to fire and insects in the amount of damage done.

Tens of thousands are dying on the battlefields of Europe. Where are they going? Will death end all for these heroes? Is Christ really to appear again? And if so, why do the preachers say so little about it? Why are the preachers of Glendale divided into two classes, "pres" and "posts?" Hear what Pastor Troy has to say along these lines.

Pacific avenue and West Fifth street. H. Jackson Hartsell, pastor. 9:45—Sunday school. J. E. Henderson, superintendent.

11:00—Morning worship. Subject, "Some Startling Calls." This will be the third in a series of Advent sermons.

6:30—Epworth League. Dr. Wilson M. Moore, president. Topic, "The Most Beautiful Birthday Song." Leader, Miss Louise Robinson.

7:30—Evening worship. Subject, "The Sin of Profanity, Frivolity and Hypocrisy." The pastor will continue the series of evening sermons on the ten commandments.

The Christmas entertainment will be given next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A most cordial welcome will be given to the parents of the children, and to the people generally. Come and help to bring good cheer at this Christmas season.

An interesting feature of the service next Sunday evening will be the installation of the newly elected officers of the Brotherhood.

There will be a Christmas tree, with treat for the children, on next Wednesday evening, December 23, in the church. A short program of recitations and music will be given and the children of the Sunday school will go forward by classes, each child bringing some article of food to be given to needy little children.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Preparations are made for many important services for the day. The first service will be held at 7:30 a. m. and will be a sunrise prayer meeting for all the Christian Endeavorers of the valley.

At 9:45 a. m. the Sunday school assemblies. Remember the superintendent desires all who can to meet ten minutes early to practice music for the Christmas exercises, which will be held Wednesday evening.

At 11 a. m.—Worship with sermon. The pastor will speak on a theme appropriate to the day.

The afternoon sessions of the C. E. rally will be at the Christian church and the 6 o'clock meeting at the Presbyterian church.

At 7:30 p. m. one of the union evening C. E. meetings will be held in this church. Rev. E. E. Haring, the chaplain of the county hospital, will give the address. Howard Brown, county superintendent, has promised to attend and speak also.

The Sunday school will have two days of Christmas celebration next week. The exercises of the main part of the school will be held on Wednesday evening and further notice will be given later.

The primary department will be entertained Monday afternoon at the church at 2:30 o'clock. This department is under the excellent and efficient leadership of Mrs. B. D. Yard and has seventy little folks under eight years old enrolled. Everyone of these, all the fathers and mothers and relatives and friends are invited to hear the pretty exercises, which will be presented by the little ones themselves. In addition to these, there will be a Christmas tree and Santa Claus himself will be present to attend to their wants. Don't forget the time—Monday, Dec. 21, at 2:30 p. m.

"TO THEM WHO JOURNEY ON"

The service at the Central Christian church Friday night was splendidly attended and resulted in three additions. "Satan's Sermon" was of deep interest to everybody.

The theme for tonight will be on "The Moral Man—What Is His Chance for Heaven?" This is a matter in which there is quite a divergence of opinion among people generally, and will no doubt draw a good audience, even if it is Saturday night.

Tomorrow morning's service will be very unique. It will be especially for "old people," and an effort will be made to have present many of those of the aged who have not been able to attend church for a long time. Automobiles will be provided for them to convey them to and from the service. If you are a reader of this and will furnish your auto for this purpose, please phone O. L. Kilborn, Glendale 943J, and he will direct you what to do. If you know of any old people to whom such a service will prove a blessing, please see that they are able to attend by phoning to the same number, giving their residence.

The subject of the discourse will be "To Them Who Journey On." It is needless to say that Mr. Brown will have many splendid things to say to them.

The subject in the evening will be "The Handwriting on the Wall." As the enthusiasm and interest in these meetings continues and grows, there is little doubt that they will be continued through the holiday season. What more profitable way to celebrate the birth of Jesus than by supporting such a campaign as this? Let all Christian people assist.

Bible school hour is 9:30. The men will please remember the contest with "Broadway" and not only be present, but strive to be on time and bring a Bible.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, the home of Kathleen Guidinger has been saddened by the messenger of death, bidding her to loose the ties that bound her to earth that her pure spirit might take its flight to dwell in heavenly mansions prepared for all who have kept the watch so faithfully, then be it

Resolved: First, that we bow in humble sorrow to the affliction which has befallen us, realizing that it is far better for her to depart and be with Christ than to dwell in that earthly tabernacle so filled with pain and suffering.

Second, that in her death the Endeavor has lost one of its most faithful and consecrated members and the Sunday school one of its brightest pupils.

Third, that we extend to the grief-stricken family, relatives and friends our warmest sympathy in this our common bereavement, and share with them the sweet consolation that she is not lost, only gone before.

Fourth, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, that they be published in the Glendale News and be spread upon the minutes of the Sunday school.

(Signed)

MRS. E. E. FRANCIS,
MISS BERTHA L. JACKSON,
Committee of Baraca-
Philathea Class.

GRAFT REQUIRED

"Here's something for Burbank to try his hand on," said Smith hopefully.

"What's that?" asked a neighbor.

"Training a Christmas tree to sprout its own presents."

As a rule, the true optimist has something to sell.

GLORY UNSUNG

Who that has read any of the numerous lives of Napoleon Bonaparte cannot recall the names of the many men who rose to distinction under his imperial leadership and who were distinguished in the time of their great leader and sometimes decorated on the field of battle. All France rung with their praise and all France did them honor wherever the opportunity was given. Soult and Lannes and Duroc, Berthier, Bernadotte, Grouchy, Ney and Jourdan, these are names that the French still conjure with.

There has been some awful fighting since the present war began, fighting on the part of all the parties to the conflict. Who can name any number of the leaders outside the supreme chiefs? As compared with the great battles of the present war, the numbers engaged, the issues at stake, the science displayed, those battles of Napoleon, not excepting Waterloo, were but skirmishes. And yet who can name anyone of the assistants of Gen. Joffre, of Sir John French, of the King of Belgium, who can call the roll of the men, actively engaged in backing up the ambitions of Kaiser William outside the crown prince of the empire, the crown prince of Bavaria, the Duke of Wurttemberg and "Swampy" Von Hindenburg, who can name anybody but the Czar and the grand duke on the Russian end of the conflict and what name looms large on the Austrian side? It is a cinch that there have been men on all sides who have been distinguishing themselves, but who is getting the credit?

There is an old English saying that the worst that can happen to a Tommy Atkins "is to be killed in battle and have his name spelled wrong in the Gazette." Here is a war that has been going on for more than four months and Tommy is not having his name spelled at all, neither are the Belgians, nor the French, nor the Germans, nor the Russians, nor the Austrians. There must have been some display of gallantry, of exceptional prowess, of unexampled strategy; is the world to know nothing about it? Is the fame of and story of brilliancy of war acts to go untold and unsung? Are the deeds of the heroes among ten million men to be entirely submerged in the fame of their leaders who are all the time carefully protected outside the range of shot and shell? There must be marshals galore in all the gigantic contending armies. Who are they? Surely their mention in the censored dispatches will in no way disclose any of the great schemes of strategy. Is it the plan for the Kaiser and the grand duke and Gen. Joffre and Sir John to absorb all the "glory" of an infamous war?—Long Beach Telegram.

ACROBATIC GARDEN

A wall of heavy green foliage, brightened by myriads of pink blossoms, six feet through and twenty feet high, is being built around the grounds of the Panama-Pacific international exposition. The foliage first grows upon a frame work containing rich soil and covered with wire netting, which is raised to place when the flowers have started to grow. Experiments were made with hundreds of plants before one was found that would answer all the requirements of an acrobatic garden. The one chosen flaunts a name almost as long as the wall. It is mesembryanthemum.

THE JITNEY BUSS

There was a little man who had no job; Couldn't borrow any money and he didn't want to rob; So he thought out a plan, the ornery cuss, He tinkered up his "Ford" for a jitney buss.

CHORUS

Every time I come to town The jitney busses run me down; Makes no difference how much I cuss, Next thing comes 'long is a jitney buss.

He started on Main to haul 'em home, Got one old man who was bugs in the dome; He looked all 'round' for a hangin' strap,

And sat right down in a woman's lap. Next day when this buss was goin' through town, A big bunch of "Fords" came bussin' 'round'

For to see whatever it was going' to do— And now, by heck, they're doin' it, too.

Old man Sebastian has made some fuss 'Bout runnin' folks down with a jitney buss. He's took it up with that council bunch— There's something doin' I got a hunch.

LAST CHORUS

Every time I come to town I hear they've run some poor guy down. Makes no difference how much you cuss— You're always dodgin' a jitney buss.

HOW LONG WILL IT LAST?

This is very largely a machine-made war, and it would be a curious and not altogether illogical denouement of the great struggle if its end should be hastened through the fatigue of the machine rather than the exhaustion of the man.

This war is being fought with the gun and the motorcar; and so strenuous and uninterrupted has been the struggle that these have been put to a test of endurance the like of which has never been witnessed in the history of artillery or the briefer but very strenuous history of the gasoline car.

The life of the gun, so far as its absolute destruction by bursting is concerned, is practically unlimited; but not so its accuracy-life. Every time a gun is fired some of the interior surface of its bore and delicate rifling is wiped away, and a certain degree of its accuracy is lost. This is true of the shoulder rifle, with its bore so small that it would not much more than admit a lead pencil, no less than that of the great sixteen-inch siege guns of the Germans. Fortunately for the infantryman, the wearing out of the bore decreases rapidly with a decrease in the size of the bore. Erosion, as it is called by the artilleryman, is greatest in the large guns and least in the 0.30 rifle. The big guns which form the main batteries of our warships and are employed in our coast fortifications can fire from 150 to 250 rounds (dependent upon the pressure and heat in the powder chamber) before they begin to lose their accuracy.

The motor car is a highly developed machine, which calls for careful upkeep to maintain it in full efficiency. In ordinary commercial service the motor car and the automobile receive, as a rule, considerable care and watchful maintenance. In the present war, however, the treatment of these vehicles must, in the nature of things, be absolutely brutal and the depreciation must be very rapid. Where are the repair shops that can keep pace with this depreciation, and how shall the necessarily enormous wastage of the war be made good?

It may well be that the fatigue of the machine rather than the weariness of the man will hasten the close of the present war.—Scientific American.

THE COMMUNITY GAINS BY ADVERTISING

"One of the greatest benefits of the 'try your home merchant first' campaign to Pasadena," said a member of the boosters' committee of the Merchants' association, "has been the arousing in the people of this city of a civic pride that is of growing importance to every person who has any interests, financial or otherwise, in the town."

"This campaign has advertised Pasadena most favorably. It has a wider and better reputation now for progressiveness. Outsiders realize that our business men are awake—alive to all opportunities to boost Pasadena as a city. Advertising has done the work."

"As showing what advertising will do for a community, I want to cite a portion of a speech delivered by C. A. Pfeffer, secretary and assistant general manager of the Chalmers Motor Car company, before the Advertiser club of Detroit. In his opinion advertising, more than any other one factor, was responsible for that city's recent prosperity and growth. Said Mr. Pfeffer:

"From 1900 to 1914 the population of Detroit jumped from 374,000 to 614,000, a total increase of 240,000, or 64 per cent. During the same period the increase of the population of the United States at large was only about 22 per cent, or 42 per cent less than for Detroit. From 1900 to 1914 the total assessed valuation of real and personal property in Detroit increased from $224,371,550 to $525,856,500, an increase of $281,484,950, or 111 per cent. During the same period the increase in the assessed valuation of city property throughout the United States was about 58 per cent, 53 per cent less than Detroit."

"Evidently there was some agency at work here which did not apply with equal force to other cities."

"I am convinced that it was advertising, not all necessarily publication advertising, though of late that has been the biggest factor, but advertising of some sort."

"Men used to come to Detroit because it was a city of beautiful location, the greatest stove center in the world, the greatest drug manufacturing center, and the leader in a score of other lines of industry. Now it is known as the greatest automobile center also, and labor and capital flock here for that reason, too."

"Two of the first automobile factories in the country located in Detroit largely by chance. They prospered and they advertised. People came to look on Detroit as the leader in automobiles, and other manufacturers moved to Detroit to enjoy this prestige. Detroit buys her raw materials from other cities, but through advertising the finished product it is she who gets the glory."

"The other cities where we purchase our materials are unknown because their goods do not bear the trademark of a finished product—because their goods are not advertised. Detroit's manufacturers support the great steel mills in Pennsylvania, the leather factories in New Jersey, the woodworking establishments in both the east and west, aluminum factories in Ohio, glass factories in Western Pennsylvania."

"But the prestige, the honor, the growth and prosperity which result from building the finished product all come to Detroit—because Detroit advertises."

"Pasadena, through this home-trade campaign, is being advertised all over the country. This city is practically a pioneer in this movement, which is now being taken up with increased vigor all over the United States. Other cities are realizing the advantage to them, as we realized it to us, of keeping the dollar traveling around in the circle where it belongs—giving employment to labor, which spends it for necessities, which gives a stable basis to business. There is a growing appreciation on the part of all classes of the interdependence of the business man upon the laborer and of the laborer upon the business man—each working with the other for the interests of both."—Pasadena Star.

SELF PROTECTION

The farmer was walking comfortably and happily along the lane leading to his own homestead—when suddenly out sprang a strange dog. He yelled for assistance, and his cry was heard by his wife. But alas, when she came upon him the dog had already fastened his teeth in her loved one's calf. Quickly she picked up a stone and was just about to hurl it, when the husband realized the new and terrible danger he was now exposed to, and with presence of mind he called to her:

"Mary! Mary! Don't throw the stone at the dog; throw it at me!"

SEAT OF SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The California building, a magnificent structure in mission architecture and entailing with its furniture an outlay of $2,000,000, will be the seat of many important social activities at the Panama-Pacific international exposition. The administration of the social functions and entertainments to be conducted in the building is in charge of the woman's board of the exposition.

The first shipload of the United States government exhibits consigned to the various exhibit palaces will be brought to San Francisco by the big naval collier Caesar. The consignment includes elaborate exhibits covering the most modern achievements of the United States government in education, social progress, human welfare, agriculture and mining.
